

A benefit your people actually use, that lifts a weight you cannot see.

Quiet confidence for your people, and a meaningful advantage for your organisation.

Inheritable: order for life, clarity for work.

Personal admin and money worries follow employees to work and quietly cost focus. Inheritable helps them get their life in order, so they arrive calmer, clearer and more present, and it is one of the most affordable, universally relevant benefits you can offer.

Used, not forgotten

A password manager is a daily habit, so the app stays open and valued, not gathering dust. Real use is your return.

Makes other benefits land

Death-in-service and group life only help if the family can find and claim them. Inheritable keeps everything findable, so the cover you fund reaches people.

Less worry, more focus

Money is employees' biggest source of stress. When personal affairs are in order, that weight lifts and people are more present.

Relevant to everyone

From a first password vault to planning an estate, it fits every life stage, fair to offer to all.
